Fashionable Society Has Wonderful Time in Newport.

During the last Week There Have Been Rather Stubborn and Sometimes Is Today Even for the Most Knight of Gown That Summer Entertainment Can Be Found at All the Fashionable Resorts of the World.

Society was made into the "blue devil" mood today, say that that can be said to describe how the Society part of a Grand Circuit Season grows the sun on all sides, and the sentiment that it can no more stop shining. The succession of social events accumulates with almost the element of monotonousness. Even Night, and every respectable person is born therefore as well to prolong pleasure to make as the events of ordinary existence.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tapping gave a dancing party yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. Hammond, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Clark, Miss Tapping, Mr. Cassius Tapping, and Mr. Whitney were among the guests.

Mrs. Fred C. Taylor, the well-known hostess, gave a delightful lunch Saturday in honor of Miss Grace Taylor, daughter of Chief Justice Taylor. The table was tastefully arranged for the guests.

A dancing party at Lake Forest was given by Mr. J. Ogden Armour last week, which was attended by Mrs. Field. The guests were the Misses Caton, the Misses Lovering, Mr. John Caton, Mr. George Caton, Mr. Hodgson Wheeler, and Mr. Lawrence Ogden.

A quiet and pretty wedding took place last Tuesday evening, July 30, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Dunn, No. 100 West Monroe street, when their daughter, Miss Katherine Dunn, and Mr. William G. Hanby were united in marriage. The bride's parents were present. The bride's sister was the only bridesmaid. The groom was attended by his brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Lawson, Jr., the youngest brother and sister-in-law of Publisher Lawson, gave a reception on Thursday evening, July 25, at their residence, No. 2201 Prairie avenue. They received from 9 to 11 o'clock. The house was decorated with flowers and palms, and refreshments were served.

Mr. Conger has confessed to the Grand Jury in the same town. Two and many say he did when the bullets were lodged with him and told lawyer and gave this footprint to the history which he seems to assign as a private institution. Friday last an persisted an unbalanced attorney named Kane to hold an heir's interview with Kane, one of the persons indicted for the Chicago gambler. Kane did not send for King. King was not accustomed to try one as authority to visit Kane. The visit was made, it is intimated, at the instance of other prisoners indicted with Kane and of some of their connected associations on the outside. This is not on that that he were not remembered him. He proved himself to the attitude, therefore, of assuming to do that the ends of justice. It is not base for Grand Jurors to receive this simple and threatening advice!

Gen. George R. Davis is represented as saying to a New York reporter on the subject of annexation:

> Annexation is a confession of a spirit that of the people of that country that they are unable to govern themselves. Canada is a happy country, and the people are happy and prosperous. Annexation is not a party question in Canada. Both parties are opposed to it. Canada is not a country to be annexed. It is a country to be left alone. Annexation is not a question that will ever be considered by the people of Canada.

Gen. Davis was probably misinformed on these points. The statements pertinent to this are absurd. The Tory property of which he speaks will continue to be assessed as Tory property—just as it has been for the last seventy-five years. The sale of hereditary as it will be much lower in the Dominion than it has been in the past. Consequently taxes will be lower. The governing race in the region referred to has been from 8 to 10 per cent of assessment. Hereafter the Ottawa rate of from 2 to 3 will prevail. The existing districts will remain in the way of public school accommodation since a fair approach for all the town they may pay. The owners of the existing property understand this quite well, and with hardly an exception favored annexation. As for prices and hogs they will be the best proof as fast as the existing districts are ready for them.

The money market has a shade firmer to-day, but with an assured increase in activity. Loans sometimes seem to better interest. New York and foreign exchange were steady. Shares in Wall street were quiet, but the transfers were fair, and there was more strength to report and. The Big Four [illegible]. The Chicago product markets were dull, with general weakness, the leading exception being wheat, which was sustained for a good part of the day. Oats were commonplace and weak in sympathy with Chicago, but by much better, while Rye were steady, with [illegible] sales. Provisions were quiet, but [illegible] prices were [illegible] lower, with [illegible] sales. Cattle were [illegible] steady, with [illegible] sales. Hogs were [illegible] lower, with [illegible] sales. Sheep were steady, with [illegible] sales. Lambs were [illegible] lower, with [illegible] sales.

Mr. Cleveland's confidence in the Democratic party is not shared by the Democratic leaders in Congress. They are not willing to go before the country on the issue of tariff reform. They are not willing to go before the country on the issue of civil service reform. They are not willing to go before the country on the issue of the Democratic party's record in the present Congress. They are not willing to go before the country on the issue of the Democratic party's record in the past Congress. They are not willing to go before the country on the issue of the Democratic party's record in the Congress of 1887-88. THE WORLD'S FAIR AID-COMMISSION DRAWS A HARD DAY'S LABOR.

The Sub-Committee Recommended to the Executive Committee—Several Cases Which Must Wait On Account of Opposition—Some Fair to Be Raised During the Beginning of It—An Anti-Sunday-Opening Sentiment Gaining Ground.

Four hundred and eighty-three hotels in Chicago, and there will not more than enough of the World's Fair of 1893 comes to Chicago.

Such, generally is understood, the gossip of the committee on Ways and Means from the National Commission which met in the Auditorium Annex yesterday. Mr. Lewis and a few members of the Executive Committee, a drowsy lake with which to wash, an open air St. Louis church for dessert. But Chicago is bound to entertain the Lords, Dukes and world beaters who will come to the World's Fair, and the whole world is generosity. To-morrow we must begin. If New York can beat that, let her. Her committee spent for a dozen thoughts to devise the hotels of proportion.

For that is what the committee has set out to accomplish. The sub-committee on hotels and accommodations intends to have all hotelkeepers sign a pledge not to raise their rates for the time of the World's Fair.

In each three days and five meetings have held to date ample reports covering the World's Fair and already the committee is on good to perform. The sub-committee of the Executive Committee met at the office of Gen. J. C. Ayers yesterday afternoon and spent a few minutes in preparing a list of such accommodations necessary to the entertainment of the committee and such as will be necessary to the success of the Fair. The committee did not make an effort to secure a number of rooms and more to the necessary to the success of going about the work, but Chicago representatives from every part were present. It was agreed to issue the invitations for the Lyric Auditorium ball.

There were present at the meeting William Penn Nixon, Chairman; E. F. Cragin, Secretary; A. T. Jeffery, Robert Lindblom, Henry H. Kohlsaat, Andrew McNally, Thomas B. Bryan, and W. J. Chalmers.

Mr. Cragin announced that complimentary subscriptions had been received from Thomas Cowling, the late of the Cragin office of the Secretary, to the 2nd floor of the Auditorium Building, at this point a representative of the committee will be found at all hours of the day and subscriptions should be sent to that address.

The committee did the work the which it was appointed promptly. The minutes were to be submitted to the Executive Committee, a list of accommodations, showing at the same time the rates which it would be necessary to have, and to secure the best for those subscribers. It was decided to recommend a list of subscribers, and this will undoubtedly stand as the action of the Executive Committee, with perhaps a few immaterial changes.

The sub-committee were invited again to attend, and the committee decided to recommend them to the Executive Committee for adoption. The names of the sub-committee will be announced in the press Committee before they are published.

THE ANTI-SUNDAY AGITATION.

The anti-opening agitation is [illegible] From the Church: The committee, [illegible] been appointed and perfected. Letters of Right to Chairman D will soon be sent [illegible] with Mayor Harrison.

Rabbi Dr. Franscheri Responds. The object is to have an influential body for the purpose of securing money to defray the proper costs to meet those desired that Chicago shall have the opportunity and the city has been elected. The committee will be quite heavy. A movement like and every man for the Sabbath must be kept. There will be a vast amount of correspondence necessary, involving a city of 1,000,000 souls, addresses and circulars, and stamps [illegible].

Rabbi the Commercial Action. The committee will have to enter into correspondence with the managers of Congress of the world that will gathered to attend their favorite sports. When Congress meets they will be on the ground at the right to act with practical effect.

Rabbi the Railroad Committee. The task of this committee will be difficult and delicate. It is supposed to secure a rate-war rather in every State of the Union to each the states of Chicago upon the attendance of visitors practically free, and to secure a very reduced rate, if possible, to visitors from Canada and Mexico. Should the Columbian Exposition of Chicago, which will be held in 1893, and which will be open to the world, be a success, it will be the duty of the committee to secure the co-operation of the railroads in the matter of the opening and closing days of the exposition, and

WE'RE ALL A BIT INSANE.

THE CONFESSIONS OF A LUNACY EXPERT CRIMINAL.

There Is a Streak of Insanity in Almost Every Person—Our Different Natures a Check and a Counter—There Are at Least Three Points Beside the Walls of the Asylum at Which We Are on the Same.

"It is sometimes difficult to tell the difference between people who are sane and insane."

These words were spoken to a Tribune reporter by a gentleman who is one of the experts in a lunacy inquiry in Boston. The question of such great interest and the subject become manifold.

"Death is," he said, "a streak of insanity in almost every person that ever was born. The only difference is that the extent to which the streak is seen varies. Where such an extent exists that one can't call it sane one calls it insane. You can see examples of streaks of insanity in almost every person you meet. Your friends would say you had the most queer ideas. Sometimes in a crowd and they will confess that sometimes they get queer ideas, too, and will wonder. Now, there is the difference between a streak and one who is insane. You can safely put out a steady, but you cannot see into a lunatic. The streak grows worse gradually until the individual goes mad. The fact helped Guiteau to premeditate his crime, and he knew all symptoms of the disease.

"Now, to resume my meaning of a streak. Take two fellows who sit in the lecture room at a hot grass day after day. They get to wishing just to wade in the boiling sea to cool off their feet and grow giddy to dive and play in the surges, and to turn on the cool shade when they do not. The question of stupid or monotonous seeing the outside sunshine all day in school, all day in business, all day in shops, and envying those who can, all day in the streets, the conversation is gone. The streaks of insanity in the former, and a strong craving for the sea to leave the ground, and for the days of spring and beautiful to spend the day. You smile and say that these sentiments are not sane sentiments. They simply are not sane, and every other man, but the fellow-passenger in the car, the fellow-passenger in the street, the fellow-passenger in the shop, the fellow-passenger in the office, the fellow-passenger in the lecture room, the fellow-passenger in the church, the fellow-passenger in the theater, the fellow-passenger in the ball room, the fellow-passenger in the parlor, the fellow-passenger in the bedroom, the fellow-passenger in the nursery, the fellow-passenger in the kitchen, the fellow-passenger in the cellar, the fellow-passenger in the garret, the fellow-passenger on the roof, the fellow-passenger in the yard, the fellow-passenger in the stable, the fellow-passenger in the barn, the fellow-passenger in the shed, the fellow-passenger in the outhouse, the fellow-passenger in the garden, the fellow-passenger in the orchard, the fellow-passenger in the field, the fellow-passenger in the meadow, the fellow-passenger in the pasture, the fellow-passenger in the woods, the fellow-passenger in the swamp, the fellow-passenger in the desert, the fellow-passenger in the mountain, the fellow-passenger in the valley, the fellow-passenger in the river, the fellow-passenger in the lake, the fellow-passenger in the ocean, the fellow-passenger in the world, the fellow-passenger in the universe, the fellow-passenger in the solar system, the fellow-passenger in the galaxy, the fellow-passenger in the nebula, the fellow-passenger in the infinite, the fellow-passenger in the eternity, the fellow-passenger in the past, the fellow-passenger in the present, the fellow-passenger in the future, the fellow-passenger in the beginning, the fellow-passenger in the end, the fellow-passenger in the middle, the fellow-passenger in the center, the fellow-passenger in the circumference, the fellow-passenger in the diameter, the fellow-passenger in the radius, the fellow-passenger in the chord, the fellow-passenger in the tangent, the fellow-passenger in the secant, the fellow-passenger in the cosine, the fellow-passenger in the sine, the fellow-passenger in the versed sine, the fellow-passenger in the cosecant, the fellow-passenger in the cotangent, the fellow-passenger in the coversed sine, the fellow-passenger in the exsecant, the fellow-passenger in the vercosine, the fellow-passenger in the covercosine, the fellow-passenger in the haversine, the fellow-passenger in the hacoversine, the fellow-passenger in the hacovercosine, the fellow-passenger in the hacoversecant, the fellow-passenger in the hacoversecant, the fellow-passenger in the hacovercosecant, the fellow-passenger in the hacovercosecant, the fellow-passenger in the hacovers

The season of outdoor night concerts given by Thomas Thomas at the Exposition Building has come to a close for the present, and the last one was highly successful both from an artistic and a financial standpoint, and the programs have been if anything more popular in their nature than those of any previous season. The ballroom nights attracted as usual the largest audiences, the attendance on one night only being the largest of any night of the series, the largest of previous years only falling a little short of 1,200. Probably the most unique as well as the most popular of the night, which ever have been given, were those devoted to the performance of the largest combination of different bands by Professor Wagner that has ever been brought together in this country. Beginning with "Hands Across the Sea" and ending with "Parsifal," Wagner was represented by selections from most of his operas, except the "Nibelungen," and also to a number of other compositions. The people's night of experiments was devoted to the "Song of the Wilderness," which was played entirely from memory by Professor Hamrick, who played on the cornet, Professor Hamrick also playing "Siegmund's Love Song," the "Song of the Forest," and Tannhäuser overture, Wagner's Grand March from "Rienzi," and Rossini's Overture to "The Barber of Seville" were also played entirely from memory by Professor Hamrick, who played on the cornet.
